Global Studies Fall 2020

GS 001-010 Introduction To Global Studies  T,R 10:45-12:00 pm, 4 credits
Professor Savage  CRN 41200  BUG, SS

GS.POLS 003-011 Comparative Politics  T,R 1:35-2:50 pm, 4 credits
Professor Fennell  CRN 42682  BUG, SS

GS.HIST.LAS 049-010 Colonial Latin America  T,R 9:20-10:35 am, 4 credits
Professor Zepeida Cortes  CRN 43317  BUG, SS

GS.HIST 090-013 America Goes to the Middle East  M,W 1:35-2:50 pm, 4 credits
Professor Pece  CRN 44959
This interdisciplinary course traces the cultures and achievements of Africans and people of African origins. It emphasizes how their similarities and differences shape their identities.

GS.HIST 090-015 Origins of Modern Democracy  M,W 10:45-12:00 pm, 4 credits
Professor Bulman  CRN 44963
This course considers the promise and perils of democracy by investigating the origins of modern democratic government in seventeenth-century England and America. Students will also discover the power of historical analysis in a rapidly changing world. History will emerge as a vital tool for understanding how societies are transformed. Skills acquired include causal analysis, empathy, interpretation, source criticism, information management, digital methods, and argumentative writing. This course can be counted as an equivalent of HIST 001 for History majors. Open to CAS FY students only.

GS.POLS-PHILO 100-010 Introduction to Political Thought  M,W 12:10-1:25 pm, 4 credits
Professor Matthews  CRN 45073  BUG

GS.HIST 101 Histories of Globalization (Online)
CRN 43033
Critical historical perspectives on current debates around “globalization” and the varied paths and responses to modernity, using recent scholarship associated with the New Global History. The “Rise of the West” paradigm, Industrial Revolution and modernization theory; creation of global financial markets, nation building and New Imperialism; Great Depression and World Wars as global historical events; postwar decolonization, Cold War and emergence of North-South relations; impact of consumerism, movements for women's rights, ethnic nationalism and religious fundamentalist movements in tradition bound societies.

GS.ANTH 106-010 Cultural Studies & Globalization  M,W 9:20-10:35 am, 4 credits
Instructor pending  CRN 41557  BUG, SS

GS.REL 140-010 Globalization and Religion  T,R 3:00-4:15 pm, 4 credits
Professor Rozehnal  CRN 44680  BUG, HU, WRIT
GS.REL.ASIA 145-010 Islam and The Modern World  M,W 1:35-2:50 pm, 4 credits
Professor Hussain CRN 44704 HU

GS.ANTH 320-010 Global Capitalism  T,R 1:35-2:50 pm, 4 credits
Professor Whitehouse CRN 44577 BUG, SS, WRIT

GS.HMS.SOC 322-010 Global Health Issues  T,R 9:20-10:35 am, 4 credits
Professor Austin CRN 44695 SS

GS.POLS 325-010 Nationalism Regionalism Populism  T,R 10:45-12:00 pm, 4 credits
Professor Laible CRN 43396

GS.PSYCH 365-010 Human Development Cross-Cultural Perspective  T,R 10:45-12:00 pm, 4 credits
Professor Nicolopoulou CRN 43919 SS, WRIT

GS 390-010 Readings in Global Studies  1-4 credits, HU, Instructor permission required, Global Studies Faculty

GS 391-010 Directed Research 1-4 credits, SS, Instructor permission required, Global Studies Faculty

GS 392-010 Internship In Global Studies 1-4 credits, SS, Instructor permission required, Global Studies Faculty

GS 394-010 Honors Thesis 1-4 credits, SS, Instructor permission required, Global Studies Faculty